

Traffic Safety Industry Division

President: Scott Wolf
Northeast Regional Sales Manager
Dicke Safety Products, Inc.

Scott Wolf was elected in October 2007 as president of ARTBA's Traffic Safety Industry Division (TSAC). For over twenty-three years, he has worked to help protect workers along our Nation's highways. Sixteen of the last twenty-two have been with Dicke Tool Company. Throughout his career he has helped bring companies up to speed with safety requirements in the temporary traffic control zone in an effort to protect workers, motorists, pedestrians and bicyclists. Most recently he has helped develop a training program and temporary traffic control guide for short-term temporary traffic control to help protect Utility, Telephone, Cable TV and other agencies who do short-term traffic control on the right-of-way. Currently he is responsible for sales of work zone safety products, training, and training materials in the Northeast United States.

As TSID President, Scott is working on ways to expand the inter-division relationships of TSID and other ARTBA divisions in relation to safety and the regulatory environment. As work zone safety regulations change he hopes to create a process for TSID to communicate those changes to ARTBA membership in such a way as to benefit worker safety and compliance thus protecting the workforce, reducing accidents, and liability. He sees this partnership as a win/win for TSID and ARTBA members.
