

IMPACTS OF COVID-19 ON STATE & LOCAL TRANSPORTATION REVENUES & CONSTRUCTION PROGRAMS

COMPILED BY DR. ALISON PREMO BLACK, ARTBA CHIEF ECONOMIST
AUGUST 11, 2020

State and local governments have begun to provide more detailed information about expected declines in transportation revenue and changes to current transportation construction programs and lettings as the COVID-19 pandemic continues, according to a review of publicly available data conducted by the ARTBA through August 11, 2020. Developments newly added are highlighted.

While many projects continue as transportation construction is deemed essential, state and local governments and transportation authorities are beginning to feel the strain of declining revenues related to user fees and the overall slowdown in economic activity. The immediate economic impact and potential job losses are difficult to quantify at this time, but each $1 billion in transportation construction investment supports an average of 13,000 jobs throughout all sectors of the economy, according to the Federal Highway Administration.

- Currently 16 states have announced project delays or cancellations valued at nearly $5.01 billion. These include Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, and Wyoming. Details are below.
- There are 20 local governments and authorities that have announced project delays or cancellations of $4.54 billion.
- At least 12 states or local areas have vetoed, canceled, or postponed legislative initiatives or ballot measures related to transportation funding because of the pandemic. This includes several major initiatives in California self-help counties.
- At least 48 states, transportation authorities and local governments have publicly projected declining revenues. This does not mean that transportation programs will be cut by the same amount but point to growing pressure on transportation-related revenue sources and state and local budgets.

	Number of States	Number of Local/Regional Areas	Total Value (multi-year period)
Projects Delayed or Canceled	16	20	$9.6 Billion
